

Welcome To The New Site! (Click Here For Help Logging In)

Lucas, Wednesday, Mar 21 2007 - 18:00:43

Welcome to the new and improved Circle of Swords website!

There are many new features to the new site, and more on the way! There's bound to still be some bugs, so bear with us while we work them out. If you see something that doesn't work or doesn't look right, let us know!

Please make sure your contact information in your User Settings is current, as we'll be using this information to contact our members for various Convention, LARP, and other Club-related activities both online and via emails!

We hope you enjoy the new site!

Quest Players:

You can use your old COS Quest character database login/password to enter this site! If you don't remember that info or never used it in the first place, try the "Forgot Password?" link (we transferred many of the email addresses on file)!

If that doesn't work, make a new account and I'll match up the two accounts within a day or so using the information you submitted!

Note: If you create a new account, I'll merge both accounts and delete one. If it says you have an invalid cookie, simply destroy it by clicking the link below the message and log back in normally.

If you still can't get it, use the "Contact Us" form and let me know...

Other Club Members & Previous Con Attendees:

Feel free to make an account! If you encounter any issues creating your account or logging in, please let me know!

Feedback & Troubleshooting:

Let me know what's broke, so I can fix it!

Post in the Forum!